Extent of Destruction Kept Secret; Ambulances Rushed to Blast Scene.

BULLETIN.

LONDON —(INS)— Seven men are missing and "two or three" bodies have been recovered following a series of terrific explosions which wrecked a London factory presumably engaged in manufacture of materials for war use, workmen leaving the building declared this evening.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Two terrific explosions that occurred in a factory on the northern outskirts of London rocked a wide area today and were said to have killed an undetermined number of persons.

While first reports immediately following the blasts stated that there had been some casualties, it was impossible immediately to determine their extent.

One report said that several persons were killed and 50 injured.

The explosions were heard as far as towns in Surrey 25 miles away. Air raid precautions wardens were kept busy assuring the population that no German air attack had occurred.

Ambulance squads immediately cordoned the entire area surrounding the factory, which is equipped with its own hospital, and information was withheld for the time being.

So great was the force of the explosions that plate glass shop windows were blown out six miles from the scene. The blasts were heard throughout a radius of 20 miles.

Rush Into Streets.

Hundreds of Londoners rushed to the streets as windows were shattered and ceilings collapsed in homes and business buildings over a wide area.

Vibrations and concussions were felt several miles away from the factory.

Flames shot high in the air over the factory, bringing fire

MURPHY SWORN IN AS JUSTICE

Reed Administers Oath Today as Ex-Governor of Michigan Takes High Court Seat.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — An unusual White House ceremony today solemnized ascension of Michigan's Frank Murphy to the U. S. supreme court as President Roosevelt's fifth appointee.

At the same time, New York's Robert H. Jackson took the oath of office as attorney general in the Roosevelt cabinet, succeeding Murphy.

Cabinet officers and their their wives, relatives and friends of Murphy and Jackson were invited to the upstairs, room to watch Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed administer the oaths.

Since Murphy must take a second oath before actually assuming his place on the bench, today's ceremony served to focus attention on the fact President Roosevelt has now named a clear majority of the high court he unsuccessfully tried to enlarge by act of congress in 1937. None of the four Roosevelt appointees preceding Murphy—Justice Hugo L. Black, Stanley Reed, Felix Frankfurter and William O. Douglas—were so honored.

Finnish Soldiers Claim Coldest Winter In 54 Years Takes Big Toll.

(By Associated Press)

Aided by the coldest winter in 25 years, Finland continued to fight off Russian invaders today in a fashion said to have caused a wide Soviet retreat on one frigid front.

Europe's northern conflict centered on the snowy Salla sector of the eastern front where dispatches reaching Copenhagen reported 40,000 Russians in retreat. The Red army fell back in the face of stubborn Finnish resistance and temperatures which have reached 54 degrees below zero.

Air warfare went on despite the cold. Moscow announced 11 Finnish planes had been destroyed. Unofficial Finnish reports said a like number of Russian aircraft had been downed.

Officially Finland reported 150 Soviet bombs were dropped yesterday killing two persons and injuring two others.

Finnish patrols told of seeing hundreds of Russians frozen to death on the Karelian isthmus front alone.

Urges Fortifications.

The Finnish-Russian conflict held Sweden's attention in fear Scandinavia eventually might be engulfed. The former foreign minister of Sweden, Richard Sandler, drew cheers in parliament when he advocated Scandinavian military collaboration and said the Aland islands, Finnish controlled guardians of the Bothnian gulf, should be fortified in the face of war dangers.

German-French artillery fire broke the quiet on the shivering western front.

A Berlin communique said German planes had scouted the western front as well as the Scottish coast. Otherwise warfare between Germany and the Allies was at a minimum though Britain continued to press her economic and financial offensive against the reich.

URGES SLASH

Vinson Wants Naval Spending Reduced by $500,000,000.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee proposed a $500,000,000 cut today in the pending $1,300,000,000 fleet expansion program, by eliminating 34 projected new destroyers.

At the opening of today's session, Vinson announced that he would ask the committee to approve a reduction in the total tonnage of the proposed expansion from 400,000 tons to 218,000 tons.

He said the bill as thus revised still would authorize three additional aircraft carriers of approximately 25,000 tons each, an unspecified number of cruisers and 34 submarines.

Vinson made it plain that the specific number of ships to be built would be left to the navy's discretion within the tonnage authorized.

ZERO WEATHER GRIPS MID-WEST

Mercury at 2 Above at Noon in in City, Below Zero Readings Forecast for Tonight.

Below-zero temperatures were forecast for the Mansfield area and most of the state tonight as the second severe cold wave of the winter spreads over the entire middle west.

With the mercury at a low of one above this morning in Mansfield and only two above at noon, the weatherman said there was little hope of relief from the frigid blasts before early next week.

The forecasters predicted light snow and colder tonight and generally fair and continued cold weather Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

As a mass of frigid air from the Canadian northwest settled over the northern half of the nation today, a number of cities west of Ohio reported the lowest readings of the winter. Ohio is expected to get the worst of the cold tonight as the blast moves eastward.

Chicago had an official reading of 13 below zero today, coldest in four years, and the temperature there was not expected to go higher than five below zero today.

Coldest spot in the nation was Williston, N. D., which reported 26 below zero. Minneapolis had 21 below; Duluth, 18 below; Peoria, Ill., 11 below, and Kansas City, five below.

Mansfield's average reading for the past 24 hours was six above zero with the highest yesterday at 11 above. Normal reading for this date is 29 above.

Bricker Call For Special Election Due

Governor Expected to Set 17th District Date Soon.

Reports persisted in Columbus today that Gov. John W. Bricker would call special congressional elections soon in the 17th and 22nd districts.

The governor, however, would not comment on these reports, dispatches from Columbus said, but indicated that his position would be made public either tomorrow or Saturday.

The election would be called to fill vacancies created by the deaths of William A. Ashbrook, Johnstown Democrat, who represented the 17th district which includes Richland county, and Chester C. Bolton, Cleveland Republican, of the 22nd district.

It was understood that Governor Bricker took the position that he would be "shirking his duty" if he allowed the selection of successors to be deferred until the November election.

Following Bolton's death, Bricker had expresed belief that special elections before the May 14 primary and the November election would be too expensive.

Expect Election by March 1.

It was reported authoritatively that Bricker will announce within the next day or two a special primary to be followed 10 days later by an election, perhaps about March 1. The primary cannot be held until 15 days after the governor's call.

The secretary of state's office has estimated that it would cost $60,000 in the 22nd and $40,000 in the 17th to conduct the special primary and election.

Bricker, it was reported, agreed to call the special elections at a meeting yesterday with state and district Republican leaders at his office in Columbus.

Attending the session were Don Powers, the governor's secretary; Ed Schorr, state executive committee chairman; George Bender, Cuyahoga county executive committee chairman, and Earl A. McFarland, 17th district central committeeman.

Bolton's widow, Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, is expected to run for his seat. Raymond J. Jeffreys of Lakewood, former Townsend leader, has announced on the Republican side, and Rees H. Davis of Cleveland has been considering running. David S. Ingalls, for a time considerad a possible candi-

PHYSICIAN AT BEDSIDE

Wife of 74-Year-Old Lawmaker Informed He Has No Chance for Recovery.

WASHINGTON — William E. Borah, the senate's famed "Lion of Idaho," its most noted constitutional authority and its dean in point of service, was near death in Washington today.

All hope for the famed 74-year-old veteran appeared gone, his attending physician, Dr. Worth Daniels, advised Mrs. Borah. He said the senator could not recover from a cerebral hemorrhage suffered Tuesday following a bathroom fall.

At 11:20 a. m. (EST), Mrs. Borah summoned reporters to the senator's apartment and gave them this statement:

"The physician holds no hope for his recovery."

News that Borah was dying quickly spread through the nation's capitol. His senate colleagues were deeply shocked, earlier announcements having given the impression that the senator's condition was not serious.

Dr. Daniels, son of Josephus Daniels, secretary of navy during the Wilson administration, has been in constant attendance it was learned.

Mrs. Borah said that only the day before the fall, Dr. Daniels had examined the senator and declared him in the best condition since his illness last year.

It was the vetetran's second confinement within recent months. The burden of the last regular session of congress precipitated an illness six months ago, but Borah and his wife spent the fall in Maine and the senator returned for the special session in November apparently fit once more.

Miss Cora Rubin, Borah's secretary for 30 years, said after a visit to his bedside that his condition was "very, very critical" and that he was in a coma most of the time.

In a broken, tearful voice, Miss Rubin related that he occasionally regains consciousness and calls for "Mary," his wife. Mrs. Borah is constantly in attendance.

Law Catches Up With 'Magician' Who Fled Bellville

The tricks of a "magician" who disappeared from Bellville late in October after collecting about $20 for a Halloween show that wasn't presented had been solved today.

Sheriff E. P. Long caught up with the "magician," who turned out to be Roscoe Kauffman, 42, of Elyria, but the sheriff probably won't take Kauffman into custody until late in February.

Kauffman who disappeared from a Wayne county village under the same circumstances is serving a 60-day term in jail at Wooster and he won't be out until next month, Sheriff E. E. Mills of Wayne county said. Kauffman would have been out sooner, but he's serving out a $100 fine too, Sheriff Mills added.

At least four other counties want Kauffman as a result of his disappearing act, but Richland is next in line, the Wayne county sheriff said.

When Kauffman is brought back here he will be charged with obtaining money under false pretense, Prosecutor G. W. Marriott asserted.

After demonstrating his magic tricks to Bellville merchants last October, Kauffman allegedly collected nearly $20 to finance a show to keep the boys out of mischief Halloween night and then left town while a full house of children awaited in the school auditorium.

Safe-Cracking Latest Offense In Loudonville's Crime Wave

LOUDONVILLE — This quiet farm community in the hills of southern Ashland county was confronted with a crime wave today that was climaxed early this morning when yeggs attempted to blow open the safe of the Farmers Equity with nitro-glycerin.

Marshal Bert Conrad and R. G. Schnittke, night patrolman, discovered the attempted robbery shortly after 3 a. m. when they heard the blast which blew the outside door from the safe.

They had been looking for safecrackers after residents became suspicious of a car that had been parked on Taylor hill west of the town.

Checking the license on the machine, they learned that the machine was owned by an Akron man who was said to have a police record. They were seeking the driver when they heard the blast.

Apparently frightened by the charge which failed to open the inner door of the strong box, the men fled taking a radio with them, officers said.

Employes of the equity reported that there was $800 in money and checks in the safe. The yeggs gained entrance to the building by crawling through a cellar window and coming up a trap door.

The recent crime wave started last Friday when four persons reported they had been robbed of a total of $236 by pickpockets during the dedication of the new school building and Fixible company addition.

The same afternoon two homes were broken into and looted of a quantity of silverware.

Tuesday night, burglars broke into the school and took $50 from a cash register in the office of the board of education clerk, overlooking a larger sum of money.

The same evening an automobile, owned by the Garner-Halblaub garage, was taken from in front of the garage, but was recovered the following morning.

Meanwhile Loudonville officers apprehended two train riders Wednesday who were brought back to Mansfield for the theft of six tires from a mail truck at the Pennsylvania railroad station in Mansfield.

Police Chief Meade E. Bates of Mansfield said the pair, both of whom had police records, were being held for federal authorities on a charge of robbing the mails.

They gave their names as Wallace Wade and Alvin V. Ingram. Both are colored.

He said they loaded the tires on a passenger train when it stopped at the station. The train was flagged down at Loudonville and the men taken into custody.

CUTS GAS RATES

Ohio Fuel Makes Reduction in Rural Areas.

The other 11 counties affected are Ashland, Crawford, Holmes, Wayne, Marion, Wyandot, Hardin, Allen, Lorain, Medina and Cuyahoga.

The reduction was authorized by the state utilities commission, dispatches said. It does not affect communities where other rate schedules have been approved.

The new rate will be 1.50 for the first 1,000 cubic feet, 6 cents per hundred for the next 9,000, 5.5 cents for the next 190,000 and 5 cents for all in excess. The old rate was 1.55 for the first 1,000, 6.5 per hundred for all in excess, less 5 cents per thousand discount.

Cramer Enters Probate Court Race, Beach Due To Announce

Atty. Stuart H. Cramer today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for probate judge and A. S. Beach, veteran Mansfield attorney, was seen as a probable second candidate for the office on the Democratic ticket.

Prosecutor G. W. Marriott had already announced that he will seek the Democratic nomination.

Although Atty. Beach could not be reached for comment, it was learned from reliable sources that he will oppose Marriott for the Democratic nomination.

Atty. Cramer is the first Republican to seek the office held by Judge C. J. Anderson, also a Republican. It will be Crame. first venture into county politics, although he was in the 17th district congressional race four years ago when he lost the G.O.P. nomination to James A. Glenn of Coshocton county. # $500,000,000 PWA Program Threat to Economy Drive

SENATORS GET BEHIND HUGE WORKS FUND

Building of Hospitals, New Sewage Plants, Schools Proposed by Group.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The administration economy drive, which has gained momentum in congress, was threatened today as members made plans for a campaign for a $500,000,000 public works program.

The program would call for the building of hospitals, sewage disposal plants and schools and be linked to the administration's security and health program.

Presidential approval of construction of hospitals, it appeared, will be used as the springboard for the campaign. Senator Wagner (D) New York, sponsor of pending health legislation, was expected to lead the movement for the building of hospitals. Senator Mead (D) New York, and Reps. Voorhis (D) California and Schulte (D) Indiana, were expected to direct the PWA drive.

A group of Indiana officials of the AFL, in a conference with Schulte, urged a public works program and indicated that labor officials from all over the country would join in the demand.

"There is great unemployment in the building trades industry and there will be more if the present public works program is allowed to lapse," said Schulte.

Meantime, the house pushed the $1,094,000,000 independent offices appropriations bill toward final passage with indications that it will be close to $100,000,000 under presidential budget recommendations when it leaves the house.

Continues Paring.

The house had completed action on two-thirds of the 78-page bill without increasing a single appropriation. It cut $25,040 out of the bill when a point of order was raised against an appropriation for this amount for the council of personnel administration. The action was taken because of lack of authority for the expenditure.

The house also completed action on appropriations for the executive branch of the government, without an attempt being made to restore $2,000,000 to operate the national resources board and the office of government reports. President Roosevelt said that he would ask special authority to continue these agencies.

Approval of action of the appropriations committee in slashing $75,000,000 from budget recommendations for the maritime commission was expected. Friends of the commission indicated little hope of restoring the funds by a house vote.

Approval of appropriations of $580,000,000 to operate the veterans administration for the next fiscal year was expected.

Police identified them as John Ickes, 21, who was paroled from the reformatory Nov. 8, 1939, after serving two years on a one-to-15-year sentence for burglary and larceny, and a 17-year-old orphan, who is said to be a charge of the probate court. Reports from Pittsburgh said the youths confessed forging the signature of their former employer and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ward, of near Butler, on two checks.

VOTERS SMASH 'DICTATORSHIP'

Louisiana Strips Power From Huey Long's Regime; Second Primary Appears Certain.

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS — Louisiana's voters, regardless of who they put in as governor, have smashed "the only dictatorship ever established in the United States."

Returns of Tuesday's Democratic primary clearly indicate the absolutism will be stripped from the regime set up in Louisiana 12 years ago by the late Huey P. Long even if Huey's brother, Earl K. Long, goes in as chief executive.

Still incomplete returns from the first primary gave Long a commanding lead over Attorney Sam Jones of Lake Charles but he lacked a majority over Jones and the three other "reform" candidates.

All indications pointed to a second primary Feb. 20. Long scoffed at Jones' chances but said he would start a runoff campaign tomorrow, if necessary. Jones planned to get back on the stump Saturday.

What happens in the second primary will depend largely on the disposition of the vote polled by State Senator James A. Noe of Monroe and Attorneys James H. Morrison of Hammond and Vincent Moseley of Opelousas.

The latest returns, from 1112 of the state's 1703 precincts, gave: Long 157,850 votes, Jones 105,927, Noe 81,059, Morrison 26,885 and Moseley 5,649.

You can help yourself to room — the spacious expanse of the Buick Super's next-thing-to-five-feet front seats. You can ride in Foamtex cushion comfort, with Safety Plate Glass all around you and everything from a built-in automatic choke to Buick's exclusive Fore-N-Aft Direction Signal to make driving easy and convenient.

16 SCIENTISTS Reveal Great Discovery About CONSTIPATION

Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining—can be avoided.

You can now actually help Nature produce her own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements—thanks to the patient study of 16 Scientists.

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report. "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Inexpensive! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen must do the work!

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

THERE is more action than usual in the training quarters of the Friendly House this week.

Right now they're knee deep in their conditioning routines for the Golden Glove swingfest, and about this time next week they should be in the proverbial "pink."

Friendly House swingsters are serious about their chances in the elimination opening in Cleveland next week, and there is no reason to suspect that they won't be in the fight all the way.

Four Mansfield sluggers, not counting Ernie and Mel McKinley, who will represent an Ashland stable, are entered in the slugfest. They are Beauford Glover, Paul Carbetta, Jake Zacharias and Al Sauer.

Glover was to appear in the tournament last winter, but was forced to withdraw because of an injury. This year Glover is in tip-top shape, and might give the Cleveland lightweights a little trouble.

Zacharias, a middleweight, can punch as well as box, and this is a combination hard to beat in the amateur ranks. Paul Carbetta is a slick 112-pounder who has come along rather fast.

Sauer, the other Friendly House pro boxer, lacks the experience of his stablemates, but he is entered in the novice division and may figure prominently in the distribution of the honors.

Mel McKinley returns to Cleveland this year as a champion, but he will make no defense of the crown he won as a novice. He has entered the open division.

Ernie, few years older than Mel, is regarded as a dangerous contender. Other members of the Ashland stable are Ray Howman, Robert Wertman, Frank Parker and Harley Freer.

Loudonville will be represented by Bob Miller and Bob Snyder, and Frank Steinhauser of Sandusky, who has appeared on amateur cards here frequently, is another Cleveland entrant.

* * *

What fights do the fans want to see this year? A consensus taken among New York fighters, managers, seconds, promoters and sports writers showed that the No. 1 match would involve Tony Galento and Max Baer. Close behind that one comes a middleweight title scrap between Al Hostak and Ceferino Garcia. No. 3 in popular favor would be a welterweight title shot featuring Henry Armstrong and Al Davis. The mob would also like to see Joe Louis operate again on Galento.

Mistakes Do Not Detract From Efficiency.

THE photographic judgments which have proved of great value in the determination of horse and foot race results do not hold such great significance in reviewing the decisions of officials in team athletic contests, an editorial in the January issue of the Athletic Journal points out.

The editorial cites the use of the camera in deciding 545 horse races on New York tracks during the last season, and its use at the National Collegiate Athletic association track and field championships when each year reversals of finish decisions occur upon the development of finish pictures.

At the same time, race finish judges are called upon to make no more than five selections at the most under set circumstances, greatly contrasted to team sport officials, such as in football. According to the editorial, football officials are called upon for approximately 500 decisions during an average college game and in a great variety of circumstances and unanticipated developments.

The fact that an average of five to seven mistakes do occur in the average football game does not detract from the efficiency of the officials in any way as the element of human error always must occur to a large degree as noted in the use of the camera in race decisions.

Photographic reviews of football officials' errors only emphasize the human error, according to the editorial, and are no necessary indictment of the officials who actually approach a high degree of perfection in their honesty and courage.

KNOCKERS, CHARGES WIN AT FRIENDLY HOUSE

Led by Brooks, who collected 14 points, the Knockers trounced the Bombers, 27 to 7, while the Charges edged the Aces, 19 to 17 in games in the Friendly House Ranger basketball league at the settlement last night.

Boasts Perfect Record

New Philly Combine Comes to Mansfield Friday Night With Eight Wins.

OUR TYGERS came out of their game with Shelby last Tuesday a tired bunch of basketeers.

But they were back on the practice court at Mansfield high school again yesterday and today they were to complete work for Friday night's game with New Philadelphia in a light drill.

* * *

Friday's appearance of the Quakers on the Mansfield court will give the Tyger followers a chance to see a team which looms as one of the strongest in the state.

* * *

The New Phillies have won eight straight games, and in only one were they pressed. That was the tussle with Massillon, which the Quakers turned back by a 31 to 30 count.

New Philadelphia's other victims were Zanesville, Cleveland Glenville, Xenia, Erie, Pa., East, Dover, Uhrichsville and East Liverpool. The defeat administered by the Quakers is the only mark on the Dover team's record.

The visiting team is packed with experienced material, with Fisher, a forward, the heavy scorer. Ferguson at center is virtually the same height as the Tygers' Russ Beer and is said to be a clever performer around the basket.

* * *

Reese, who ran wild against the Tygers on the grid last fall, is also a member of the quintet as is Castignola of the football team. They are both regulars.

* * *

Coach Vern Hoffman of the Tygers indicated today that he would probably use the same lineup as he started against the Whippets.

* * *

Madison, Ontario Renew Rivalry.

THREE games of almost equal importance will hold the interest of Richland county league followers Friday night.

Madison will go to Ontario to renew one of the deadliest rivalries of the league and Coach Orville Kibler's Warriors may be stumbling blocks in the Ram's fight to hold on to second place.

Kibler

Lexington performs at Butler and Lucas plays at Union in the other title games. Bellville, the league leader, is not scheduled.

North Central conference games take Shelby to Ashland, Mt. Vernon to Galion, and Bucyrus to Marion. Mt. Vernon is undefeated.

Record Crowd Sees Birds Win

Loudonville Triumphs, 29 to 22, at Perrysville.

PERRYSVILLE — Perrysville high's basketballers renewed an old rivalry with the Loudonville high Red Birds before a record-breaking gathering here last night and suffered a 29 to 22 whipping. Approximately 700 spectators witnessed the contest.

* * *

Although Loudonville gained the edge in the first period, the Admirals led by Christopher, climbed within a point of the invaders' lead twice in the second half. It was the first game between the two schools in four years. Loudonville held a 7-4 lead in the first period, was ahead, 16 to 11, at the rest period, and 21 to 18 as play opened in the final quarter. Christopher was the offensive star with 10 points, while Cain paced the Red Birds with nine tallies.

* * *

In the prelim, the Loudonville reserves topped the Perrysville seconds 28 to 17.

HAROLD SELBY

Harold Selby Again Sets Pace in City Class A League; Meders Lead Teams.

RESPONSIBLE for some of the best scores shot at the Meder alleys this season, Harold Selby continued his consistent work on the alleys by turning out a 664 to set the City Class A league individual pace again last night.

And Selby was never more consistent than he was last night as his scores did not vary more than four pins.

* * *

Bowling with Funston's All-Stars, Selby opened his string with a 220, jumped to 224 in the middle game and finished with 220 as he led his teammates to a 2859 total and three victories over the Greystone Nite club. The All-Stars started off with a 1004.

* * *

Ed Meder, who opened with a 244, and Orland Grable rolled respective series of 620 and 612 for the Greystone.

Team scoring honors were annexed by the Meder Recreation quintet, which poled out a 2955 count. Led by Bud McBride's 627 and Dale Cleckner's 615, the Medermen climaxed their two wins over Weidner's Pontiacs with a 1049 game.

The Ingram & Martin Oldsmobiles collected two victories over the Lutz Lumbers of Lexington in the other match.

Sets Record With 32 Points as Pitt Wins.

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Eddie Starloski, diminutive junior forward, hung up a new modern scoring record at Pitt in pacing the Panthers to a 73-42 win over Carnegie Tech cagers last night. Playing in the stadium's fresh-air court on the coldest night of the season, he meshed 32 points to beat Charley Hyatt's record of 27 made in the 1929-30 campaign.

Hang Up Sixth Straight Win

Mayflower Cagers Defeat Lutherans, 25 to 19.

Mayflower's undefeated combine moved another notch nearer the Y. M. C. A. Church Class A basketball league championship by tallying its sixth consecutive triumph last night.

With Russell pacing the attack, Mayflower maintained its lead by dusting off First Lutheran, 35 to 19. Russell collected 13 points for the winners.

* * *

First Methodist walloped Central Methodist, 32 to 19, and the Park Avenue Baptist quintet beat St. John's Evangelical, 30 to 22, in the other contests.

* * *

Mayflower grabbed a 6-4 advantage in the first period and held the lead all the way. The winners shut out the Lutherans in the third period to take a commanding 24 to 11 lead.

The Baptist and First Methodist clubs both hopped into the lead in the initial quarters. Baptist led, 13 to 6, at the intermission, while First Methodist was ahead, 18 to 9. Rayburn of the Baptist team annexed high-point honors for the evening with 14 tallies.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

City League Teams Open Second Round

Yuncker and Westinghouse Quints Play First Game at Tyger Lair Tonight.

FOUR teams sported new championship ambitions for the second round of play in the City Class A league which will get under way at Mansfield high school tonight.

* * *

The teams are the Yuncker Sports, Shelley Chocolates, Blue Goose Sohloans and Westinghouse Electrics. The first three named teams shared the title in the first round, while the Electrics failed to win a single game, although only losing one by a decisive margin.

* * *

This round the Westies are expected to figure more seriously, and their first obstacle tonight will be the Yuncker Sports, whom they face in the first game at 7:30.

The Westies are bound to hit their stride soon, and there is no reason to suspect that they will be push-overs for the Sports.

In the first game between these two teams, the Yuncker team was forced to rally in the final minutes to eke out a 29 to 28 decision.

The only defeat suffered by the Blue Goose team in the league was administered by the Shelley quintet in the first game of the opening round, and it will be out to avenge this whipping tonight.

* * *

Coach Pete Hergatt's Sohio-ans later handed the Yuncker club its lone setback by a 32 to 20 score. It was this game which set the stage for the three-team tie.

* * *

The Blue Goose-Shelley game will follow the opener at approximately 8:30 p. m.

Farmers, Canfields Seek Wins Tonight

With the end of the first round only a few weeks in the distance, the Raemelton Farm and Augustine Canfield cage quintets will attempt to keep their winning streaks intact in the Senior league at the Friendly House tonight. They are tied for first place and a defeat at this stage would undoubtedly prove costly to their title chances.

The Farmers face Daley's Cafe in the first game at 6:45 p. m., and the Canfields' tackle the Isaly Dairys in the middle tilt. The third place Rex Billards tangle in the final game with the Moose lodge.

Know Your Basketball

THEATERS

ARTHUR MURRAY will stage a spring dance festival in the Hollywood Bowl . . . something on the order of New York's Harvest Moon spectacles put on in Madison Square Garden. . . . Deanna Durbin is queening it in a $1,500 gown for a scene in "It Happened In Kaloha." The dress, of the 1850 period, is made of black chiffon velvet and is decorated with 600 ermine tails. . . . Add Gladys George to the Hollywood celebs who are writing their autobiographies. . . . The story of Finland and her people is shown in the latest March of Time.

New Triangle Plot.

"Married and In Love" is being shown at the Madison theater Friday. The problem of the other woman forms the theme of the new dramatic offering, starring Alan Marshal, Barbara Read, Helen Vinson and Patric Knowles. Miss Read, essaying her first leading role, is hailed as a real find by screen critics with her performance as the wife who doesn't know what is going on until almost too late.

* * *

Popular Song on Screen.

Bringing to the screen for the first time the popular song sensation, "Oh, Johnny, How You Can Love," the musical comedy-drama of that title is showing at the Ohio theater Friday with Tom Brown and Peggy Moran in featured romantic roles. Highlighted by the novel presentation of the title song, which is sung by the radio songstress, Betty Jane Rhodes, the story deals with the experiences of Brown, as a traveling salesman and Miss Moran as a run-away heiress.

* * *

Jane Wyman Plays Torchy.

Two features, "Torchy Plays With Dynamite" and "Two Gun Troubador," will be shown on Friday and Saturday at the Majestic theater. Jane Wyman is the new Torchy, Allen Jenkins, the new Steve McBride, and Tom Kennedy, the same old Gahagan. "Two Gun Troubador" stars the "silvery-voiced buckaroo," Fred Scott. His ability to fight with fists and guns is matched by the cleverness with which he outwits those who would stop at nothing to achieve their unlawful ends, in this characterization.

* * *

Western and Mystery Plays.

"The Three Mesquiteers," John Wayne, Ray Corrigan and Raymond Hatton, appear in "The Wyoming Outlaw," which opens Friday at the Park theater. The story concerns itself with the adventures of the trio when they discover that part of their herd has been rustled under cover of a dust storm. "Dead Men Tell No Tales," starring Emlyn Williams, Sara Seegar and Hugh Williams, is a mystery murder story.

* * *

Virginia Weidler Returns.

Showing at the Ritz theater on Friday and Saturday are "Bad Little Angel" with Virginia Weidler, Gene Reynolds, Guy Kibbee, Ian Hunter, Elizabeth Patterson, Henry Hull and Lois Wilson in the cast. This is a story of love, faith and sacrifice. "The Arizona Kid," with Roy Rogers in the leading role is the second feature there. The scene is set in the South during the Civil war and tells of the career of one of the most notorious killer-bandits in America during that time.

Tied for Lead At Halfway Mark

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—Battling par and each other for the right to remain in the running, the bulk of the country's top-notch professionals and a handful of crack amateurs opened fire again today in the second round of 36-hole qualifying tests in the $5,000 San Francisco match play open golf tournament.

Par busters, as the big field teed off, were scarce as luxuries in war times. Only ten of a field of 175 which got under way in the initial round were able to better the standard 36-36—72 figures of the Lake Merced course.

The three leaders, starting from the halfway mark, were Lawson Little, the former amateur champion now playing for pay; Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich., and Al Krueger of Beloit, Wis.

DEALINGS SLOW IN STOCK LIST, LEADERS DOWN

Standard Brands Exception as It Edges Into New High Ground for Year.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks jogged along apparently without any real destination in today's market.

With dealings even slower than yesterday's snail-like pace, small fractional gains and losses were about evenly distributed.

Standard Brands was an exception to the apathy elsewhere. It edged into new high ground for 1939-40 on blocks of as much as 10,000 shares.

Bonds and commodities were a trifle uneven, as were the principal European securities markets.

Brokers could discover nothing particularly bullish or bearish in the domestic or foreign news budget and most customers showed a disposition to keep speculative slates clean. A little investment buying was reported here and there, but this was far from urgent.

Market optimists found a prop in the federal reserve board summary indicating industrial activity in December hit a record peak for that month.

Those following rubber company stocks noted forecasts from this industry that tire production for the current year would reach between 53,000,000 and 54,000,000 units. While this would represent a moderate decline in unit output from 1939, it was believed that both on a value and weight basis, 1940 production might top that of the preceding year.

COURT PAYS ITS OWN WAY, ENDS '39 WITH PROFIT

Kalbfleisch's Report Shows Receipts Totaled $25,000, Operating Costs $12,000.

Mansfield's municipal court not only "paid its own way" last year but continued to be a source of revenue to the city as well, netting a profit of $13,000.

Receipts of the court in the year just closed amounted to $25,206 as against expenditures of $12,203. Judge Kalbfleisch's annual report to city council revealed today.

The major portion of this revenue was paid into the city's general fund and more than doubled the operating costs of the court. The remainder was distributed to the state and county and to the maintenance of the law library.

Operating costs of the court, including the salaries of the judge and clerks and deputies, amounted to $12,203, an increase of $214 over 1937. Of this amount, $2,000 was paid by the county and Madison township, since the court has jurisdiction in Madison township cases and all misdemeanors in the county.

The 1,292 criminal cases which cleared through the court produced revenue of $19,947, or $6,800 more than was derived from the 1,038 cases handled in 1938, the report disclosed.

$4,181 In Traffic Fines.

In addition, the collection of traffic fines taken in by the police department produced $4,181, as compared with $3,255 collected through the same source in 1938.

During the year 1,129 civil cases were filed with the court as compared with the 795 cases either heard, decided or settled during the previous year. The only source of revenue from such cases is the costs assessed, which amounted to $5,258. In 1938 the total costs amounted to $2,410.

The report, listing in detail 65 different types of criminal cases handled last year, showed as in the past that intoxication was responsible for more than one-fourth, or a total of 447 of the offenses listed.

Drunken driving, increasing with the general upswing in business and industrial conditions, helped boost collections in criminal cases

A total of 57 persons were charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. 14 more than were accused of the same charge during the previous year.

Second on the list of crimes most frequently committed was careless and reckless driving. There were 112 charged with this offense in addition to 36 who were cited into court for speeding. Assault and battery accounted for 90 of the offenses, petit larceny 59, and 54 persons were charged with disorderly conduct.

GIRL AT THE FRONT + + + + +

By ROB EDEN

(Copyright, 1940)

CHAPTER II.

Cautiously inserting one finger, he withdrew it and nodded brightly at the powder which adhered. He smelled that, sniffing like a dog at a rat hole. Finally, he barely touched the end of his tongue to it.

"Mademoiselle, you have done France a great service!" he exclaimed, finally. "You have defeated a dastardly plot—a plot which, if successful, would have utterly destroyed the grand paquebot—the St. Croix!"

"You mean. . . ." Claire couldn't go on.

"I mean it is a highly inflammable powder—a powder which in several days would have set fire to its paper covering, burned through the case, and your cabin would have become a raging inferno. It would have spread so rapidly that it would have been impossible to control it once it caught hold. The St. Croix would have burned to the water's edge. It is one of the most terrible chemicals known!"

"But how could it have been done?" Sanford demanded

"Spies, Monsieur. Spies. They knew Monsieur Cameron and Mademoiselle Dutton were leaving on the St. Croix. They knew about the diplomatic seals on their baggage. They imitated one of Mademoiselle's bags and placed this powder in it. It was unlikely, they thought, it would be noticed. All other baggage which went aboard the boat was carefully examined for just such things as this. They knew Mademoiselle's would not be. So!"

He shrugged his shoulders expressively.

* * *

Realization of the fate she had so narrowly escaped sent chills up and down Claire Dutton's spine as Pierre Bornet described the incendiary powder.

"There was enough to destroy even so large a ship as the St. Croix, once it got started," he explained. "It is the most terrible chemical now known, and if the enemy ever starts dropping quantities of it from planes over our cities—well . . ." He paused dramatically, and Claire and Sanford could easily envision the holocaust his words conjured up.

"It has been used before," the Surete detective continued. "In fact, it is strongly suspected that a small quantity of this powder caused the destruction of the American Clipper ship which vanished without a trace while on a path-finding expedition in the South Seas. Every one knows that establishment of the trans-pacific air line was bitterly opposed by certain powers Sabotage of other sorts was attempted, so why not this?"

Claire realized it has been a mere accident that saved the St. Croix and possibly the lives of every one aboard.

"If Bill Cameron had arrived on schedule, whoever put the overnight case in my stateroom undoubtedly would have removed it and planted it somewhere on the ship, and it suddenly would have burst into flames and destroyed us all," she thought. She was thankful that Cameron had missed the boat.

But where was he? What had happened to him?

She turned to the two men and spoke the questions aloud.

"It was absolutely imperative that he reach New York as quickly as possible and go on to Washington," she told them. "He told me that. I know he would be aboard the St. Croix now unless something happened — something terrible."

"Suppose you leave M. Cameron's whereabouts to me?" suggested Bornet. "We of the Surete will find him if he is anywhere in France. . . . . .

"If Mademoiselle will permit the suggestion, I would strongly urge her to leave France as quickly as possible. There is an American warship sailing from Bordeaux, I believe, in two days. You are in very grave danger here, that is certain. If certain persons know your movements well enough to exactly duplicate your baggage, they may not hestitate to harm you once they learn their plan has been balked."

* * *

Sanford joined Bornet in urging Claire to leave.

"There's nothing you can do here, Miss Dutton," he insisted. "The embassy will join with the Surete in making every effort to locate Mr. Cameron. You may depend upon that. It is much more important now that you safeguard your own life and leave while it is still possible. I car make the arrangements for you to get aboard the warship."

Claire's chin, ordinarily so round and soft, set determinedly.

"Thank you both, very much, but I'm staying in France until I find Mr. Cameron. He's my employer—he depends upon me. I cannot leave without him, regardless of any danger I may be in." Her brown eyes flashed as she faced them defiantly.

Bornet shrugged helplessly. Sanford started to renew his protests, and then broke off as the phone on his desk rang. It was the official at the Ministry of War who had promised to check on Cameron's movements.

"I finally located the officer who had M. Cameron's affairs in charge," the voice said over the phone. "I checked with Captain Rene Martin, the aviator who was to have flown the American gentleman to Le Havre. M. Cameron, he says, never appeared a St. Cyr where the captain was waiting with his plane. The captain waited until a few minutes ago, and then left the field to return to Paris. I expect he will check in here some time this evening."

* * *

Sanford thanked the official and asked to have Captain Martin get in touch with him.

"You know what Mr. Cameron's mission here has been, don't you?" Claire inquired.

"I must confess that I don't, Miss Dutton," the embassy attache answered. "So far as I know, he has no official status at all although I do know my chief has had some dealings with him. My interest in him is simply that he is an American citizen and we are supposed to see that all Americans here who wish to return home are sent on the first available boats."

"The diplomatic seals?" Bornet suggested. "How does it happen that he has those? Surely you must know more about him, M. Sanford, than you have told me."

"How he arranged for them, I don't know—and I don't intend to guess," the young diplomat answered. "I know there are many things that occur about which I have no official knowledge.

Bornet nodded, wisely, twitching the ends of his mustache with his fingers.

"No doubt a highly secret mission," he remarked. "It would be too bad—in fact, quite embarrassing, perhaps—if anything has happened to M. Cameron."

"You don't think . . ." Claire started, fearfully, half afraid to utter the thoughts that swarmed into her mind.

"Think what, Mademoiselle?"

"That—that anything really can have happened to him? That—that he may be hurt—injured?"

"Of course, I cannot say. It would be a guess and we of the Surete do not guess, Mademoiselle. We get our facts, and then we know."

Although the little man preened himself proudly, there was a serious note beneath the surface that stifled the laugh that half started in the girl's throat. This was no laughing matter. Cameron undoubtedly had disappeared. He had not communicated with the embassy or the Surete There was no word at the hotel.

"What do you intend to do?"

"Since you have officially brought it to my attention, and since we know something of M. Cameron, I shall make it my duty to find him—if he is in Paris, we of the Surete will find him. And promptly."

"Thank you," Claire breathed, 'I know I can count on you."

"And you, Mademoiselle—what do you intend to do?" Bornet asked.

"Go back to the hotel where we stayed. I am known there. I shall take a room and stay until I find where Mr. Cameron is—or until you learn something definite about what has happened to him. Perhaps I may get some clue."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1940.

In the lexicon of a dictator there is no such word as "Please."

"Ninety-nine in every hundred Finns can read and write"—which may explain why they reject Russian Communism.

This government is not going to be overthrown by such an arsenal as that just rounded up in New York by the FBI, but it's a good thing to keep an official eye on the people who think it is.

Good Business Year

THIS YEAR began with industrial production 30 per cent higher than it was in the first half of 1939. Conservative experts are now saying that the country may expect "at least a pretty good first quarter." Trade and industry levels are high and there are rather heavy unfilled orders. Recent advances, too, are said to consist mostly of "durable goods," that is, of goods used for the production of other goods.

It is this line of production that business has been looking forward to for a long time. "Durable goods," in the form of industrial machinery and so on, must be produced in larger volume if the current business wave is to swell into a tide bringing assurances of prosperity again. There must be new expansion of plant and equipment, new investment along many lines, especially building, and higher value for real estate. Optimism about such prospects seems to be growing lately.

This might be made a very good year for business and employment in spite of being an election year. It could be, if politicians and candidates of both sides would make a special effort not to scatter pessimism or rock the boat.

Britain's Army of Jobless

THERE are more unemployed in Great Britain now than there are soldiers and recruits in the army. A recent report stated that on Nov. 18 the total was 1,402,588. There had been a slight increase since the declaration of war last September. A disturbing fact is that no one knows what to do about it or even what to expect in coming months.

A great many workers lost peacetime jobs when war stopped certain industries. Others left their regular occupations to volunteer for various war services which have not yet been required on a full-time basis. Since the war has not been one of heavy land fighting, capacity production of shells, rifles, and so on has not developed.

Authorities are said to be divided in opinion on what to expect. Some think it possible England's unemployed would be cut to a few thousand if the war "livened up." Others are not sure. In the meantime there is fear that the present army of unemployed may grow to 2,000,000.

The economic waste represented by this situation is plain. There is also a psychological peril involved, for the combined strain of war and joblessness will be hard for men and women to bear. A solution of the problem is as vital to Britain's future as victory over the enemy.

Temperance Day In Schools

OBSERVANCE of "Temperance day" in the public schools, as required by state law, may appear somewhat anomalous, is view of the present strong stressing of liquor revenues as an important factor in the operation of state government.

It is not yet regarded as advisable, however, to withhold from school children all information regarding the harmful effects of alcoholic drinks and various narcotic drugs.

Whatever may be their later decision as to the use of liquor, it is only fair to children of school age that they be given opportunity, in homes and schools, to learn of the harmful effects of various habits before they fall victim of any of them.

With use of liquor banned in the field of aviation, and a number of other lines of employment frowning on employes made undependable by alcoholic excesses, there is an apparently growing need for young people to learn of these handicaps to getting and holding jobs before they acquire a habit that may prove seriously detrimental.

Peace Efforts Worth While

PEACE DRIVES are useful even while guns are booming and ships sinking. For general peace among nations, at a time when war is being waged or prepared on so vast a scope, is immensely complex and difficult and will require time, patience and careful preparation.

In any such drive it is natural that the American government and people, because of our vast material interests and humanitarian sympathies, should want to share. And perhaps honest and intelligent efforts, from any source, are never too early or too late.

Any "will to peace" that can be mobilized by public or private efforts is so much to the good. Such contributions are the least we can make while our like-minded friends in the war area are spending their money and their blood. Our pressure for peace, on any honorable terms that will establish a reasonable degree of sanity and co-operation in Europe, may be as important as the arms of the democracies actually engaged.

Cost of a Girl's Living

THE Ohio Consumers League finds that a "bachelor girl"—that is, a girl entirely dependent on herself for a living—needs a weekly income of $20.27. This means about $1050 a year. Girls "living at home" can get along for less.

Some of the items are $7.14 a week for food, $10.70 a year for dental care, $26 a year for "personal care," $35 for recreation and education, $25 for vacation, and 33 cents a week for reading material.

When you check it, most people will probably say it isn't any too much, by American standards. But it's considerably more than the average American working girl earns, and in almost any foreign country it would mean wealth.

Slow-Moving Allies

ARITHMETIC, geography and philosophy are on China's side in her resistance to Japanese aggression, says Dr. Lin Yutang, Chinese author.

These are good allies, particularly for winning long-range victories. But they are not enough to make the invader give up and go home and to bring about an early peace and restoration of normal living. A happier day can be foreseen for China's people with their aid, but again [illegible] today, tomorrow, next day and next spring is [illegible]

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It is little things like this that explain why fiction writers in New York merely observe people and find their plots without having to wrack their brains.

Noel Mills is an actress. I don't know her, but they say she is quite pretty. Not so long ago her mother tore a page from the New York Times to wrap a small picture in. She was putting it away in a drawer when her eyes happened to fall on a paragraph in the personal column, which was on that page. The paragraph asked information as to the whereabouts of her daughter. Someone, it seems, had left her a considerable amount of money.

The plot now thickens. While all this was going on Noel was being auditioned by an agency for a part in a radio show. It was a pretty good lead. If she made it, she would be signed to a featured role.

* * *

BUT the audition had to be held on a Thursday night — and that was the night her mother had arranged for her to interview the attorney for the estate. What does a gal do in a situation like this? Give up her chance for glory—or perhaps risk losing a handsome legacy?

Well, money talks, even on Broadway, and so Noel begged off from the audition and claimed her estate. To do this she had to go to Montreal, come back to New York, and go on back up to Canada. It took a lot of attorneying and traveling to make things nice and legal and fool-proof.

When it was satisfactorily settled she was morosely wondering about her interrupted career when this same agency telephoned her again. Apparently a satisfactory player had not been found, and to her delight, she was selected.

What made it even more than a "personal experience" to Noel was that this show was "The Court of Missing Heirs," a show that specializes in finding people who are missing, but who have legacies coming to them.

* * *

THEY say you have to be everything from a good business man, to a Swingali, to become a successful orchestra leader. I do not know whether these characteristics have influenced Glenn Miller's rise, but I can tell you he is one of the most unfailingly courteous men you have ever met.

The other night in the Cafe Rouge, in the Hotel Pennsylvania, where he is playing, Miller suddenly stopped playing after only two numbers. I suppose the dancers were disappointed. But at this moment Miller stepped to the microphone and said, "Ladies and gentlemen I want to apologize for playing such a short dance set, but we are going on the air in a couple of minutes, and if you will be patient till then we will have a half an hour of dancing."

Just that. . . . Little words to his audience. . . . He didn't have to say anything, but he did. . . . I heard one girl say to her escort, "Wasn't that nice of him?" . . . Maybe it is things such as this that help explain Glenn Miller.

Itching Puzzles Medical Science.

—By DR. CLENDENING

I HAVE before me a very interesting article, written by one of the most famous dermatologists in the United States, on the subject of itching. In spite of the fact that he is very experienced in diseases of the skin, he confesses that he doesn't know what is the cause of this common symptom.

We know that itching, like pain, is due to irritation of a nerve, but we are ignorant of exactly what causes ordinary sensations of feeling to become painful. Why should an inflammation of the skin at one time cause itching and at another time pain?

Nearly any abnormal irritation in the skin will cause itching. The injection of a small amount of material from the mosquito's salivary gland, the burrowing of the scabies insect in the skin itself, the reaction of the skin to food sensitivity, as in eczema, will all do it.

A common cause not usually remembered is atrophy of the skin and removal of the natural secretions by too much soap and water. In winter weather, especially, elderly people should remember this. They are often troubled by itching when they are certain there is no inflammation or insect as the cause of it.

In these people it can be seen that the skin is thin and dry. It is wrong to prolong the habit of taking a daily bath in middle age, especially in winter, as this irritates an already atrophic skin.

Common to All Animals.

Physiological itching is common to all animals, especially those who are hairy or feathered. If you will sit quietly and fix your attention upon some part of your skin, you are almost certain to become conscious of a slight intrusive irritation at this point, a prickling sensation, and the longer it lasts the more it demands attention. You pass your fingernail over the irritated point and it is gone. What was it? Was it pain? If uneasiness is pain, yes. If desire is pain, yes. If the inclination to stretch the limbs, wink the eyes or eat is pain, so is this desire to scratch.

Itching is a sensation which is specific to the skin. When the eye is irritated, it responds not by pain but by sensations of sight—flashes, etc.

The treatment of itching is, of course, the treatment of the cause. The destruction of the scabies insect or of the bedbug is a campaign that confronts many of us during the winter months especially. Of all the remedies which are used for itching, the best is probably camphor. It is cooling and anesthetizing—in fact, has been called the "morphine of the skin."

What Place for the Woman Over 40?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT PLACE is there for me when I'm over 40? Every day my mail bulks bigger with that frightened question. Letters from women in their 30's who suddenly see Old Age looming . . . an Old Age for which they've made no preparation. Women who "never dreamed I'd have to make a living" . . . who drifted along, happy in the surety that Jim or Al or Harry would always take care of them. And now the youngsters are grown and gone . . . the husband is dead or indifferent . . . and a bored gentleman is glaring at them across a desk, asking "What experience have you had?" And so they wail:

"Oh, how can the world be so heartless? I'm positive I could do anything, if they'd just give me a little time to learn how . . . But they don't give women a chance . . . What place is there for a woman over 40?"

WHAT PLACE IS THERE FOR A WOMAN OVER 40? NONE, LADY, UNLESS SHE MAKES ONE FOR HERSELF. AND THE TIME TO START MAKING IT IS—NOW!

That seems a cruel answer, doesn't it? Yet it's actually kind and you might have been saved a heap of misery if you'd learned it with your A-B-Cs. However, there's still plenty of time and if you really want to know the answers, you can start accumulating them at once. After all, your plight isn't something special or unique. It concerns the whole human race, regardless of sex or age.

There's no reason why the average modern woman shouldn't be as able and alert as the average man. The fact that she isn't lies in her own twisted attitude. Instead of regarding herself, from the start, as an independent citizen, capable of facing life on her own two feet, she thinks of herself as a Special Treat, to be petted, praised and protected by some male. All of which is pure piffle.

A WOMAN OF 40 CAN COMMAND AS FAIR A BREAK AS A MAN OF THE SAME AGE. AND SHOULD START DOING IT WHEN SHE'S 14.

Thanks to labor-saving devices and beauty treatments, she has 50 per cent more leisure than her mother had, and 500 per cent more Come Hither. She may be untrained, but scores of correspondence courses can remedy that defect. If she'll spend a third as much time studying some useful craft as she now spends window shopping with Mame or gossiping with Gert, she can be sitting pretty pronto. And, I repeat, the time to begin is NOW.

Traffic Suggestions.

Editor News-Journal:

Your editorial "Are More Policemen Needed?" is very timely, but can hardly be answered by a yes or no. It is almost unbelievable that partisanship would enter into a matter of such grave importance as the traffic problem. It is a serious problem, not only here, but everywhere, and we must be untiring and unselfish in meeting it.

I have had the opportunity to observe and study "traffic" for years over a wide field. Lived in Birmingham, Ala., for nearly two years, and they surely were "tops" in the downtown district.

The downtown district, here as elsewhere, is the big problem, and I am sure that it can easily be improved to quite a degree. The lights change too often, on Main street at Third and Fourth streets, to clear the crossings. Time is consumed in the changing of lights. By increasing the time at these corners I am sure that at least one half more cars would go through in a given time. There is too much lost motion when lights are changed too often.

Cutting out turns at Third and Fourth streets would also increase clearings to a considerable extent. City busses could make their turns at Fourth street as they now do.

There are many angles to the matter in addition to more policemen. Mansfield can't possibly employ enough policemen to give us the kind of traffic that we should have, unless the public, drivers and pedestrians alike, cooperate to the fullest extent to help put it over.

Right thinking removes selfishness and greed, and we readily realize that we are not the only ones on the street. To me, this seems very essential. Let's not [illegible] until Mansfield is [illegible] traffic observance.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Request.

Do not destroy my faith in God,
In truth and honesty,
For if you take these things, you take
All that means most to me.

Let me be happy with the dream,
If dream it is that there,
Is beauty which can never die,
Realms than this earth more fair.

I reverence the gentle Christ,
The pattern that he set;
It is the light that leads me when
My heart and grief are met.

Let me retain this plan of life,
Naive though it may be,
For I am happy and content
In its simplicity.

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WENT to cut wood one cold windy day, above our home. My little girl, in warm ski suit and red striped hood, followed me up the trail. Snow was four inches deep and many times we slid backward down the beaten path, and caught hold of small branches for support.

At the place where many old dead treetops lay we looked for a place to build a fire. Above the path we spied a hollow chestnut stump with a cavity that ran down as law as where the roots began to spread. She gathered several handfulls of dry oak leaves while I cut a hole on the windward side, close to the ground. We placed the dry leaves inside with small broken twigs and coarser sticks on top.

While we both stooped low to make a windbreak, I struck a match and quickly placed it among the dry leaves. It puffed lightly, smouldered and stopped short. We gathered another handful of dead leaves and shielded by the hollow of my hat, the flames were kindled, then transferred to the first heap.

Soon tongues of fire were leaping through the coarser wood, and roaring up the hollow of the stump as through a chimney. We stuck heavier pieces down the fiery throat and watched in silence the lines of sparks fly upward, borne due east by the wind.

"I'm going to play I'm an Indian princess, Daddy," said my young daughter, "and hide behind those trees out there where the snow is falling. You're not to know there's a single Indian near, so you'll be kind o' scared, and wonderfully surprised to see me, especially a princess. You mustn't see me when I come—I'll skip from one tree to another—there aren't any real Indians around here anymore are there, Daddy?"

"There may be," I said, " . . . just under the ground. But they're very good ones and will never do us any harm."

Puzzled a little, she did not linger to ask more, but ran and skipped among the trees, her face eager and rosy from the wind and from the game she played. Then I heard her sing a song we both loved—the melody of a wierd Indian song. Coming from a distance, as it did, muted by the roaring of the trees and the fire, I thought I heard or seemed to hear music that sorrow comes not near."

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Under Robert Houghwout Jackson there will be a very important shift in the crusading activities of the justice department.

Murphy concentrated his fire on corrupt politicians. Jackson will train his guns on the powers behind the politicians—business and utility interests.

This does not mean that the "pols" will be neglected. They need not hope for any let-up. Jackson is going after them just as vigorously as Murphy did, and one of the first places on the list to be tackled is boss-ridden Atlantic City.

Behind this shift in emphasis are two factors. The first is that Jackson is less political-minded than Murphy. Jackson is a relative newcomer in politics and has never held an elective office. Murphy has held a number and his thinking is chiefly in political terms.

The second factor is Jackson's strong economic orientation. Like Murphy, he too has a long crusading career but his crusades have been against business powers. As a stripling lawyer just out of school in Jamestown, N. Y., he defended a group of street car strikers when they couldn't get another attorney. A few years later he took up the legal cudgels for the local independent telephone company against the giant A. T. & T. and licked it.

As a 40-year-old assistant attorney general he waded into the mighty Aluminum Corporation of America with anti-trust charges, and followed this up with a tax evasion suit against the late Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury and ruler of the aluminum field.

In the last two years, as solicitor general, Jackson has hung up the greatest record of supreme court victories on major economic issues in the history of the tribunal.

* * *

Associated Gas.

JACKSON believes that at the root of political corruption are economic interests which fatten off these machines and keep them in power. As attorney general his basic policy will be to strike at these hidden forces, and you can write it down that there will be plenty of action.

They may not be spectacular, because Jackson dislikes personal publicity, but they will be the kind that hurt. He wasn't called "Jack the giant killer" in Jamestown for nothing. There will be no private conferences with defendants nor talks about compromises.

One of Jackson's first economic offensives will be in the direction of the $80,000,000 Associated Gas and Electric company, which went into bankruptcy last week when the Securities and Exchange commission refused to permit officials to tap the till for a dividend payment.

The group ruling the A. G. & E. roost filed the bankruptcy petition in a federal court in the little city of Utica in upstate New York. This court has had no experience in handling such immense trusteeships. A. G. & E. investors, backed by SEC and the justice department, are demanding that the case be brought to Manhattan, where the chief offices of the corporation are located and where there are experienced judges.

It's an inner administration secret, but Jackson dug into the A. G. & E. situation before he took over the reins as attorney general, and some of his aides are urging that certain criminal proceedings be launched in the not distant future.

Note—Legal adviser of A. G. & E. executives is Jackson's former superior, ex-Attorney General Homer Cummings.

* * *

Political-Go-Round.

YOU don't hear anything about him, but behind the scenes Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and during the 1920's the Midwest's candidate for the presidency, is very active in the GOP campaign picture. Middle West leaders are beating a path to his door to discuss the various aspirants, and to get aid and advice on the now active movement to organize a bloc for united action at the convention . . . Dr. Francis Townsend is bent on forcing congressmen to undergo another show of hands on his old-age pension plan before election time. He is planning to have one of his house followers introduce a discharge petition in order to compel a rollcall vote on his bill. . . . Another prominent clergyman who has joined the opposition to continuing the Dies committee is Rev. Walton E. Cole, of Toledo, O., dynamic director of the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice.

"Larrupin' Lou."

ONE of the most familiar "pressure boys" on Capitol Hill is roly-poly, apple-cheeked Louis B. Ward, Father Coughlin's Washington generalissimo. Also, he is one of the most mysterious.

Last year when he was actively lobbying for the Coughlin-backed "cost of production" farm bill, Ward vigorously denied he had any connection with the radio priest. Ward's story was that he was for Coughlin's bill, but wasn't working for him.

Congressional veterans who have watched Ward's operations for a number of years were skeptical. But he was very emphatic. "I am not a representative of Father Coughlin," he insisted, "nor am I on his payroll."

When this session opened, one of the earliest lobby birds on the scene was Ward. Breezy as ever and sporting a big white cowboy hat, he was on hand again pumping hard for the Coughlin farm measure. But this time it will be difficult for him to deny any Royal Oak connection, for on the masthead of Coughlin's weekly now appears this interesting item of information: "Editorial Director, Louis B. Ward."

Note—Since his appearance in the breath-taking sombrero, Ward has been nicknamed in the congressional cloakrooms, "Larrupin' Lou."

* * *

Little Oversight.

WHEN congress last summer rushed through that $328,500 bill giving each member a new clerk, the boys made one slight oversight.

In their hurry to jam through the pork grab with as little fuss as possible, they forgot to appropriate money to provide the necessary office furniture and typewriters for the additional employes. As a result they are now bombarding House Clerk South Trimble with clamors for the equipment.

But with no money for that purpose Trimble can't help them. Some have proposed to him that he dig into the "contingent fund" of the house. But Trimble, a veteran of many years service on Capitol Hill, is taking no chances. It will cost at least $50,000 to buy the needed equipment and he's not going out on a limb that size.

Timely Editorial

From Every Dollar Spent.

Most people are behind with their reading of the Congressional Record. Somebody is always writing a good biography or a naughty novel, and there are the newspapers to be read every day. As a rule the Record is dull reading, and more often than not one who starts out with the best intentions wades through a few pages and quits. But the reading of all who make the good start perhaps adds up to totality, with the result that if something worth while appears, one person sees it and passes it along.

It was a member of the nation's staff who had the good fortune to find this year's gem. He deserves the thanks of all who missed an "extension of remarks" by Representative Bender of Missouri. Bender asked for and obtained unanimous consent to extend this remark. "Mr. Speaker, of every dollar spent by the federal government, 39 cents is borrowed money." That is the Congressional Record's record for brevity. Also for meat.—Indianapolis News.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I will listen to whatever you wish to say to me."

I took my own time in answering her, for I did not wish to appear eager to begin the conversation. And when I did speak, I tried to make my voice impersonal but friendly.

"In the first place," I began, "I am sure you will agree with me, when you consider matters calmly—and justly—that your mother is too strong a character to be influenced by anyone in so important a matter as her marriage If she has decided to marry Mr. Veritzen, it is her own decision, uninfluenced by any other person.

Her face darkened, but her speech was as calm and impersonal as my own. She was struggling to appear regally poised.

"I know only this," she said precisely. "My mother told me a while ago that she would not marry Philip Veritzen now because she was penniless. This morning she sent for you, and you had an interview with her. Just now she told me that she had decided to marry Mr. Veritzen when he again asked her, and I imagine he does that every time he comes over here.'

"I imagine he does," I agreed as she paused for a second.

"I could only reach one conclusion," she went on coldly. "You must have told my mother something which changed her mind. Didn't you?" she demanded, with fierceness again in her voice.

"I told your mother something I had discovered, which it was her right to know," I said, purposely making my voice icy. "Whether or not it had any effect upon any question she was deciding, I do not know."

As I talked, I mentally apologized to old Sapphira, for I knew I was what Harry Underwood calls "leaving her at the post" But I did not intend to betray that fact to Olina. The knowledge could do her no possible good, and would undo everything that I was trying to accomplish.

"But I think you will be more interested in something else we discussed," I said. "She was very much interested — naturally — in your secret nocturnal telephone conversation with Mr. Veritzen, and was anxious to know what you could possibly request of him at that hour."

Her face paled.

"So you weren't asleep and you told her that, too," she said viciously.

"No, I was not asleep," I told her calmly. "but I did not have to tell your mother about the incident. She also was not asleep, and heard your conversation She also heard you speak to me, and realized that I must have heard what you said more clearly than she did because I was nearer the telephone than she was. So she summoned me not because she wished to discuss Philip Veritzen, as you think, but because she naturally was vitally concerned as to why her daughter was surreptitiously telephoning Mr. Veritzen at that hour in the morning.

"Did you tell her all that you had heard?" Olina asked.

"Yes," My answer was curt, and I saw her shiver. But at least she was brave, and her next question was directly to the point.

"Did you hear everything that I said to Mr. Veritzen?" she asked.

"Every single word," I answered

"What did you think I meant when I told him I had tried to do what he wished, and could not?"

"I am sure I know, Olina," I told her gravely, "but it would do neither of us any good to discuss it. Suffice it to let me tell you that you did not suceed, and you never will succeed in that particular venture. Have you anything else you wish to ask me?"

Resolutions For Young Children

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Parents, teachers and Sunday school teachers might profitably talk over the following resolutions with their children, to help guide their conduct during the new year:

I am going to try to grow up strong and healthy.

I will eat what I ought to eat and drink only what I ought to drink—plenty of milk, lots of water.

I will sleep enough, go to bed at a regular time, and sleep with my window open.

I will try to spend at least two hours a day out-of-doors having good fun with others of my age.

I will play hard and play fair.

I will learn to get along well with my playmates, not picking fights or quarrels, nor running off when I can't have my way

I won't be a bully, for a bully is a coward attacking and annoying younger, weaker children.

I won't kick another person with my feet or fight with sticks and stones, but I will stand up for my rights and defend them with my fists, if attacked.

Will Be Less Selfish.

I won't romp and make rough-house indoors, but will enjoy creative and constructive play there, attracting my playmates to join me in it.

I want to be less selfish with my friends and playmates, sharing more with them, never bragging or showing off, nor talking to them of things I have that they don't have.

I'm not going to quarrel so much with my brother or sister, but will try to have many more good times with him or her.

I want to manage myself so that others will like me better, so that I will have more friends in 1940 than I had in 1939.

I want to show that I am growing up by looking after myself better and taking better care of my own things.

I am going to try to manage myself more, bringing myself in from play when the street lights come on and making myself ready for dinner.

I'm going to get myself ready for school each morning in 1940, and on time. No one will have to wash my neck and ears or find my hat and other things. I'm growing up.

Will Help Mother.

I'm going to be less bother to my mother. When I come into the house, I'll hang up my hat and coat. When I cause a mess at making things, I'll clean it up I'll tidy up my own room, too I'm not a baby any more.

I am going to help my mother more, doing some regular jobs every day without having to be told. and volunteering some just to be kind and useful.

I am going to have better table manners so my mother won't have to be ashamed of me and I won't have to be ashamed of myself, and we all can be happier together at mealtime.

I will do what my father and mother tell me to do without acting like a baby, whining complaining or wanting to know why.

I will be careful of my own things, other people's things and the furniture in my home and other people's homes.

I want to be a good citizen in the community where I live. Therefore, I won't injure or destroy property anywhere; or handle, use or take things not my own.

In 1940 I am going to try to make everybody who knows me want to trust me and think well of me.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

BIDDING AFFECTS PLAY

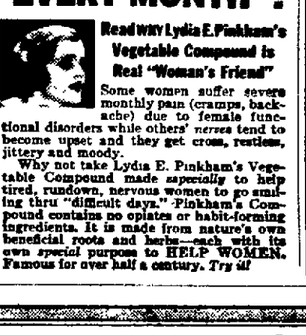
It is almost amazing to notice how emphatically the preliminary bidding influences the play on some deals Sometimes in duplicate the same final contract is reached at two tables, the declarer making it without difficulty in one case and taking a bad licking in the other, entirely because different bidding had occurred, giving one defender or the other an entirely different picture of the situation.



(Dealer: South North-South vulnerable)

At one table West overcalled South's 1-Spade here with 2-Clubs, North bid 2-Hearts, East doubled, South 2-Spades, North 3-Spades and West doubled, pretty bad. At the other West overcalled with 2-Diamonds, intending later to show Clubs, North then bid 2-Hearts. East 3-Diamonds, South 3-Spades and all passed.

In the first case West led the club K, then the club A and the club 7, ruffed by East's 10. The latter laid down the heart A, which declarer trumped. Then he took the spade A and K, led to the 9, took three diamond discards on the two set-up hearts and club J, gave up a diamond and made his contract.

At the other table, the club K lead was followed by a switch to the 7 of the diamond suit which East had supported. The K won, then the club Q was cashed, the diamond 2 led to the A, the club A scored and the club 8 led. East ruffed with the 10, forcing South to use a high honor. That set up a trump trick for West, so the contract was down two tricks.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If West makes a spade overcall during the auction and then leads the club 10, how should South play for 4-Hearts?

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, duper, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. 47c long-idle shipbuilding yards to assure construction of ships faster than Germany can sink them.

British and French officials ended a London conference with an agreement for pooling manufacturing resources of the Allies, particularly for armaments.

In Washington, Vice-President Garner and the directors of the National Association of Manufacturers were listed as opponents of any further financial assistance to Finland for fear the United States might become involved in European war.

Former President Hoover, however, was on record as supporting President Roosevelt's idea of a non-military loan. A congressional committee deferred action on the proposed loan until after hearing Secretary Hull's views next Wednesday.

• • •

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—The 2,342-ton German steamer August Thyssen sank this morning off the Aland islands at the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia, after striking a mine believed to be Swedish.

The crew took the boats which, at midday, were drifting southward, surrounded by masses of broken ice. A Swedish warship was trying to reach the survivors.

• • •

OSLO—(AP)—Owners of the 1,590-ton Norwegian steamer Fagerheim reported today she had been torpedoed in the Bay of Biscay on a voyage from Africa to England and that 14 of her crew were missing.

A group of survivors from a torpedoed Norwegian vessel, presumably the Fagerheim, reached Vigo, Spain, last night aboard the Greek merchantman Iris. Five persons were injured.

Reports were received that a second Norwegian ship, the 1,140-ton Enid, had been torpedoed and sunk within the last 24 hours. She was said to have gone down last night off the Shetland islands, north of Scotland. All her crew was reported saved.

• • •

LONDON—(AP)—Reuters, British news agency, reported today that the 803-ton Danish steamer Olga was wrecked on the rocks of southern Norway near the Torungen lighthouse. The crew of 18 reached Arendal four hours after the ship went aground.

• • •

LONDON—(AP)—The crew of the 5,494-ton British vessel Cairnross, landed at a southwest port today, reported that their ship sank within an hour after striking a mine last night off the English west coast.

There were 48 in the crew; all were saved.

• • •

PARIS—(U.P.)—Usually reliable sources insisted today that Germany since January 1 has put 70 army divisions, perhaps 1,000,000 men, into position opposite Belgium and The Netherlands.

It was asserted that this was the basic reason for alarm as the result of which the low countries took military precautions during the week-end.

French sources said that the German ambassador at Brussels, Vicco Karl Buelow-Schwante, visited Foreign Minister Paul-Henry Spaak Tuesday and asked an explanation of Belgian defense measures, and the relations, if any, between the Belgian and the French and British general staffs.

Doubt was expressed here that Germany intended to invade Belgium and The Netherlands. It was pointed out that Germany had permitted publicity on its troop movements, and that if it really considered an attack there would have been none.

Girl Brides—Ages Total 29

Combined age of these girl brides is 29! At the left is Mrs. Edward Muhs, 14, and right, Mrs. Francis Stoms, 15, proudly displaying their marriage certificates at Salem, N. J., following their elopement to Stafford, Va. Both are first-year high school students.

GIRL, 17, SUES RELIGIOUS CULT, CLAIMS LEADER BETRAYED HER

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—Alleging she had been betrayed when she was 11 years old in 1934, 17-year-old Irma Weber sought $1,000,000 damages today in a suit against a Los Angeles religious cult.

In an eight-page complaint, the girl, whose mother, Mrs. Ida Weber, brought the suit in her behalf, told this astonishing story:

She alleged that at the age of 11 she was outraged in a suburban cabin by Otoman Zar-Adusht Ha'Nish leader of the Mazdaznan cult and one of his disciples, named as Henry Sorge.

Listed as defendants, with Ha'Nish's name missing because he is reported dead, were a number of high officers of the cult and 20,000 John and Jane Does, members of the mysterious organization.

As a result of her experience, which allegedly occurred while a cult meeting was in progress in another part of the cabin, the girl, according to the complaint, "has suffered continuously and become reluctant to associate with other persons due to a mental complex resulting from the assault, and has been unable to join her friends in girlish enthusiasm."

The complaint charged that Ha'Nish, as master of the cult, demanded that young girls between the ages of 10 and 13 should have revealed to them the facts and truths of womanhood in order to prevent them from being ignorant and uninformed.

These facts, the complaint alleged, "were taught to young girls by actual demonstration."

Otoman Zar-Adusht Ha'Nish who was born in Leiptig as plain Otto Hanisch, had, records showed, a bumpy career as supreme master of the Mazdaznan cult, which he modeled after the Parsees of India and Zoroastrians of Persia.

After the cult was organized in Los Angeles several years ago he was accused of statutory offenses against children, but was released when witnesses failed to appear.

PLEAD GUILTY

Crestline Pair Wins Leniency on Counterfeiting Charge.

Philip Stefle, 26, and Herbert Richie, 34, both of Crestline, today were placed on probation by Judge Frank L. Kloeb of federal court at Toledo for one year after they pleaded guilty to counterfeiting.

They were accused of manufacturing slugs to be used in slot machines. Judge Kloeb told them they apparently did not realize the seriousness of what they had done.

Roger G. Jones, 59, Lima, O., incurred the wrath of Judge Kloeb when he approached attorneys in the federal court room asking them to represent him. Jones was accused of sending threatening letters through the mails to political enemies. Judge Kloeb probated Jones for six months.

2 EXPLOSIONS SHAKE LONDON

Many Feared Dead as Blasts Rock 6-Mile Area; Hundreds Flee Into Streets.

Ambulance surgeons gave first aid to the injured.

A thick pall of smoke covered the entire region.

Fire brigades were summoned as well as ambulances to aid the injured.

Cause of the explosions was not immediately known, but authorities launched a speedy investigation.

It was recalled, however, that the outlawed Irish Republican army has been accused of responsibility for a series of incidents which have terrorized the British Isles in recent months.

Authorities gave no hint at once, however, as to whether they believed the I. R. A., German saboteage agents or purely accidental causes were responsible for the explosions.

Germans Told Arms Factory Wrecked.

BERLIN—(INS)—Two heavy explosions which rocked London this morning occurred in an armaments factory and the bodies of fifteen dead have already been recovered, the German wireless stated in unconfirmed reports from Amsterdam today.

"Several hundred are said to have been injured," the broadcaster stated.

"A large black cloud of smoke is hovering over the place where the explosions occurred, while fire brigades and ambulance cars continue to arrive from all parts of London."

ZITTAU, Saxony, Germany—(INS)—Twelve persons were killed and 20 were injured today when a German railroad train crashed into a bus, demolishing it.

SIFT WRECKAGE

G-Men Continue Investigation of Jersey Nitro Blast.

GIBBSTOWN, N. J.—(INS)—G-men and state police today continued their investigations to determine whether sabotage was responsible for the earth-shattering explosion of three tons of nitroglycerin at the duPont plant here which killed two workmen, injured three others and blew a small processing building to bit.

Company officials expressed belief the blast which left a huge crater in the earth was nothing more than a "routine accident" but federal agents and the state police decided to make an investigation nevertheless.

An area of 60 to 70 miles including Camden, N. J., and Philadelphia, Pa., was shaken by the blast.

Nothing save a rubber heel was found of the clothing or bodies of the two dead men, Earl I. Harbison, 30, father of two children, and Edward M. Bundens, jr., father of one child.

READERS GIVEN WIDE SELECTION IN NEW BOOKS

Additions by Library Include Adventure, Mystery Novels, Others on Timely Topics.

Novels with rich, human background, adventure and mystery stories and the speeches of Eduard Benes will be found on the new list of books at the Public library this week. An interesting "inside" on the power of propaganda in times of war is another timely subject that will appeal to the reader who likes to "keep up" on current subject.

AGAIN THE RIVER by Stella E. Morgan is a novel of deep force and simplicity. Jasper Morton, a farmer, lived in Low Town. With his family, he loved the land and loved but feared the river. Twice he rebuilt his home after floods, but finally ..e and his house were destroyed. The author conveys to the reader the depth of feeling unexpressed by these plain, honest people and their brave courage in the face of disaster.

STEADFAST LIGHT by Elizabeth Stancy Payne is the story of young Christopher Thorne who is blinded by accident just as he is about to perfect an invention. Two women serve him with their sight and their love so that he regains confidence in life.

WHITE SAILS CROWDING by Edmund Gilligan is the story of a wild winter trip to the Grand Banks for halibut in the 1880's. An epic of the sea, this tale recalls the style of Defoe.

Other Fiction.

CHARLEY MANNING by Corbett; DOUBLE FOR DEATH, Stout; RESCUE OF CAPTAIN LEGGATT, Townend.

DEMOCRACY TODAY AND TOMORROW by Eduard Benes contains the substance of a series of lectures given by the last president of Czechoslovakia at the University of Chicago. He believes that while democracy has its faults and weaknesses, it is the "expression of genuine human morality and modern civilization and is alone worthy of twentieth century humanity."

THE WAY FORWARD by Francis Bowes Sayre explains the American Trade Agreements Program. This plan is a means of enabling the flow of trade to continue free from excessive restriction.

TO PERSIA FOR FLOWERS by Alice Fullerton tells of a journey to Persia in search of flowers not previously known in England. The author lived for some months in a small village, learning much about the local customs.

Tells of Propaganda.

WORDS THAT WON THE WAR by James R. Mock and Cedric Larson is the story of the activities of the Committee on Public Information, 1917-1919. This was the largest and most effective propaganda agency ever established in this country.

Three books being added to the John Baxter Black Memorial collection this week are: LET THE PEOPLE SING by John Boynton Priestley, PORTRAIT OF JENNIE by Robert Nathan and THE IDEA OF A CHRISTIAN SOCIETY by Thomas Stearns Eliot.

LET THE PEOPLE SING is a gay novel of comedy-drama. Timmy Tiverton, an unemployed clown, and a Czech professor rally the townspeople of Dunbury to assert their free rights against local tyranny. PORTRAIT OF JENNIE is the whimsical story of an artist whose friendship with a kindred spirit enabled him to succeed. Eliot presents his views on a world society. His plan would justify any means whereby the desired end might be gained, bloodshed and warfare not excepted.

Other Non-Fiction.

EDUCATION FOR CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE edited by NASH; A B C OF AVIATION, Page; FIELD BOOK OF ANIMALS IN WINTER, Morgan; MONEY MAKING FORMULAS, edited by Crowley; COUNTERPOINT: STRICT AND FREE, Prout; DANCING AROUND THE WORLD, Haskell; TRANQUIL HEART: PORTRAIT OF GIOVANNI BOCCACCIO, Carswell; LIFE OF LEWIS CARROLL, Reed; DOG IN TRAINING, Weber; SKATING, Putnam and Parkinson; NIGHT OVER ENGLAND, by Lohrke and Lohrke; RISE OF EUROPEAN CIVILIZATION, Seignobos; SHORT HISTORY OF THE WORLD SINCE 1918, Jackson.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Photography has become a fascinating hobby for a number of young people and it has interesting possibilities for others. For those desiring an elementary handbook the first book listed below is recommended. The second book is more technical and will be satisfactory for many adults. It should delight those older boys who wish to learn more than is usually found in a juvenile book.

THE BOY'S BOOK OF PHOTOGRAPHY by Edwin Way Teale—The explanation of why cameras take pictures and advice on which type of camera to buy are included in this useful manual of photography. The procedure and equipment for developing films and printing pictures are also clearly and simply explained.

PHOTOGRAPHY FOR FUN AND MONEY by A. Frederick Collins—For the boy who already understands the principles of photography this book will be a good one to use next. A great deal of information is included about the parts and accessories of the equipment.

WEDDING SET

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Keplinger and Mr. and Mrs. Newton Couts of Bucyrus expect to attend the wedding in Toledo, Saturday, of their granddaughter, Miss Audrey Jane Keplinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Keplinger, former Bucyrus residents, and Lawrence F. Blodgett of Toledo.

Donahey at Odds With Limbach On 3rd Term Pledge

SENATOR HITS STATEMENT ON OHIO'S PLANS

Declares He Never Saw Slate of Delegates Which Chairman Said Was Prepared.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—State Chairman Arthur L. Limbach's advance pledging of Ohio's delegation to the Democratic national convention to a third term for President Roosevelt brought a sharp reaction from Sen. A. Vic Donahey and other sources today.

Limbach had said the delegation, although pledged to Donahey as a "favorite son," would cast its vote for the president in the event a movement to renominate him developed early in the convention. He said Donahey had consented to these conditions, and that the arrangement had both his approval and that of National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley.

Donahey said he had never seen the partial slate of delegates-at-large which Limbach had prepared.

Farley O. K. Denied.

A spokesman for Farley also denied that the national chairman had approved the commitment of the Ohio delegation as Limbach claimed.

Despite indications in Columbus that former Gov. Martin L. Davey might be denied a place as a delegate-at-large, partially because of Donahey's opposition, the senator said he thought Davey should be included.

"Mr. Davey is entitled to be a delegate-at-large because of his position as an ex-governor," Donahey said. "He and I have not always agreed, but the selection of delegates is not a personal matter."

Donahey also said that he had not yet given his consent to be a candidate in the convention as required by Ohio law. Declarations of his candidacy were expected to arrive shortly at the secretary of state's office in Columbus, however.

"Mr. Limbach made his statement without consulting me," Donahey said. "I am still perfectly able to speak for myself. I have said repeatedly that I would run as a 'favorite son' only if it became necessary in the best interests of the party."

Charles West, Granville, former liaison officer between the White House and congress, after his third conference in recent weeks with the president said Mr. Roosevelt had seen reports of the Limbach announcement.

"It has been the understanding among Ohio leaders all along that President Roosevelt could have the delegation if he wants it," West said. "It has never been a secret that the delegation would be friendly to Mr. Roosevelt or to his plans."

West said a pro-New Deal commitment such as Limbach outlined did not represent a "desertion" of Donahey.

Asks Union To Prove Cincy Relief Charges

Up and Down THE STREET

Curiosity that killed the cat, sometimes even gets the best of dogs, at least it did yesterday afternoon to a pup that wanted to play with the model of a dog, standing in front of a Park avenue west music store. After several minutes of barking, and walking up and down in front of the statue, the pup decided apparently that he was being ignored and went on his way.

But they're not doing any damage to the modern building, because they're not the white ant variety. They're members of the scrub football team, who chose to call themselves the "Termites" because Coach Vern Hoffman, who handles the scrubs, used the expression "Let's bore in there," when he wanted a little harder charging in the line.

It isn't unusual in places like New York for people not to know for months and even years who their next door neighbors in an apartment house are. But it is unusual in a town like Mansfield, and it really happened. On Douglas avenue is a four-family apartment. Occupants of the two upstairs apartments use the same stairway, hall and entrance. Though they had heard each other's voice in the four months they've been neighbors, it wasn't until yesterday that they saw each other. So it's a small town, eh?

A magazine which prints the reading time of each article caused a worker at one of Mansfield's wholesale houses no end of embarrassment the other day. As it takes something like 20 minutes to roast a quantity of coffee, the employe decided to time himself by reading a time-marked story in the magazine. He selected one with a reading time similar to the length of time needed in the roasting process. But, apparently, he read too slowly, for the coffee was burned long before he completed the story.

ADMITS KILLINGS

Farmhand Says He Murdered 3, Then Milked Cows.

SIDNEY, N. Y.—(AP)—A 22-year-old farmhand admitted today he shot and killed three members of a Masonville, N. Y., family and then finished his farm chores because he "didn't want to be cruel to the animals," State Police Inspector E. A. Maynard said.

The farmhand, James Fink, was arrested in Reading, Pa., yesterday when he and a companion, Aubrey Scrum, 21, asked the proprietor of a filling station for gasoline. They were returned to Sidney state police barracks today.

The bodies of Frank Teed, 68, his wife, Helen, 66, and their daughter, Ruth, 25, were found Monday in their burned farmhouse near Masonville.

Maynard asserted Scrum became involved as an accessory after the fact when he confessed he suggested to Fink, Teed's employe, to burn the home to conceal the crime.

CHILLICOTHE—(AP)—Ernest Carr, 30, insisted to investigators today that the shooting last night of Marshal Earl Edgington, 42, of nearby Bainbridge was accidental.

Carr was held in jail here on open charges pending outcome of Edington's condition, described by physicians as serious. Edington was wounded in the groin.

FARMERS HEAR OF AAA PLANS

200 at Richland Agriculture Session; Ganyard Warns of Too Much Optimism.

More than 200 Richland county farm residents discussed their problems and heard about the new federal farm program yesterday at the county's first agricultural convention in the First United Brethren church, Mansfield.

Principal speakers at the sessions, which were arranged by G. L. Taylor, Richland county AAA chairman, were Harry A. Donohoo of Clinton county; John Cummings, Sullivan, O.; County Agent George B. Ganyard, and E. E. Durre of Paulding county.

Warning against false optimism and too much expansion on farms, County Agent Ganyard asserted that "despite the industrial pick-up and the increased demand for farm products as a result of the European war, there is still enough of a surplus of farm produce to keep prices down this year."

Ganyard pointed out that the nation has one of the largest supplies of hogs and grain on record which will tend to prevent a rapid improvement in the market.

Donohoo and Cummings, state AAA authorities, outlined the 1940 federal farm program which pays farmers for keeping their crop acreage within a government limit. Durre talked on "Crop Insurance," discussing the government loan program which permits farmers to obtain loans on their grain crops so they can have operating funds and at the same time hold their produce for better prices.

Mayor William J. Locke of Mansfield gave a brief address of welcome. Community singing was led by George Weimer.

KILLED AS GUN GOES OFF

FINDLAY—(AP)—Orla B. Gilliland, 51, manager of the Patterson, O., grain elevator, was killed in a hunting accident yesterday. His rifle discharged as he was climbing a fence.

NATIONAL SYMPHONY PRESENTS SECOND CIVIC MUSIC CONCERT

The second number on the Civic Music association's 1939-40 program will be presented at Senior High school auditorium Wednesday when the National Symphony of Washington, D. C., appears here under the direction of Dr. Hans Kindler.

This comparatively young orchestra already has been hailed as one of the leading orchestras of the United States. It represents the vision of Kindler which embraced a national orchestra which would reside in the nation's capital but would be available to other cities for concerts.

As the orchestra was perfected, its following grew. It is supported by 6,000 subscribers. Audiences in Constitution Hall, Washington, average 3,500 music lovers.

Dr. Kindler's fame is not confined to Washington, however. He has given concerts in his native Holland and has appeared as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the Symphony of Toronto, and with the Philadelphia Philharmonic at the invitation of Leopold Stokowski. He also has appeared with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony at Lewisohn Stadium and the world-famous Concert-Gebouw orchestra of Amsterdam.

The first concert of the Civic Music season was presented by the Don Cossack chorus. Gladys Swarthout will be the final number, on March 11.

Shiloh school children will present a program Wednesday morning at 9:45, and W. F. Kirk, master of the Ohio State grange, will be the principal speaker at the afternoon session. W. E. Krauss of the Ohio Experiment station will speak at the closing evening meeting.

SHERRILL CLAIMS LABOR GROUP'S ATTACKS 'FALSE'

Demands Proof of 'Playing Hide and Seek' With City's 'Starving Families.'

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—A blast by one faction of organized labor against Cincinnati's relief machinery, charging City Manager C. O. Sherrill with "playing hide and seek with starving families," was met today with a challenge to prove it.

The welfare committee of city council, confronted by a series of criticisms and defenses of the city's relief policies, set out on a broad investigation designed to "clarify" the situation. It asked representatives of the Central Labor council (AFL) to give in public hearing details behind a resolution sent to the council.

Charges Listed.

The resolution, signed by Jack Hurst, president, asserted that "Sherrill relief is playing hide and seek with starving families, subjecting pauperized Cincinnati citizens to the penal wage of 25 cents an hour, breaking up families by withholding aid to young men and young women, continuing to kick families of jobless out on the street."

Characterizing the labor group's "numerous attacks" as "entirely false," Sherrill traced them to "the refusal of the welfare division to pay those on work relief the highest union wages" and a requirement that "able bodied persons on relief shall do everything possible to obtain jobs in private employ and to earn at least enough to pay their rent in so far as possible."

SEE SHERWOOD TODAY

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Accused of handling relief matters inefficiently and in violation of state law, seven Athens county officials were summoned to the office of Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood today.

Sherwood charged that county relief records were inadequate, that there was no proper investigation to determine the eligibility of relief clients, and that an employe of the county commissioners was "interested in contracts to furnish relief supplies."

NEW QUAKE HITS

50 Killed, 160 Injured as Tremors Rock Turkey Again.

ANKARA —(AP)— Turkey's second major earthquake in three weeks was reported today to have killed fifty persons and injured 160 in the Nigde district, some 200 miles southeast of here.

This district, which escaped the disastrous earthquake of December 28 which killed at least 30,000 persons in northeastern Anatolia, suffered a series of heavy shocks last night accompanied by terrifying underground rumblings.

New quakes were felt in the devastated region of the December shocks—about 200 miles northeast of the new quake area—but no casualties were reported from there.

The western plains, rivers swollen by melting snow flooded 15 more villages and caused a landslide which crushed two bridges. In this region late December floods killed at least 1,500.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Older Communists Took Lead In Debauching U. S. Youth For Party's Uses

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I want to emphasize a point in the case of those monstrous Russians and foreignized Americans who deliberately debauched American girls and boys in the furtherance of the Muscovite conspiracy against the United States and assigned the morally infected victims of their vicious example to the task of contaminating others by mingling with them in the American Student's Union and the American Youth Congress.

The point is that these older Communists took the initiative. The young people did not seek them out. On the contrary, the elders cultivate relations with susceptible girls and boys, the majority of them between 16 and 20 years, and this work of corruption was an activity of the Russian government directed from Moscow.

Benjamin Gitlow, the former general secretary of the party in the United States, writes in his book, I Confess, that the adult party leaders set the young Communists an example of loose morals and that the orgies and debaucheries of the young ones were never seriously discussed or considered.

He leaves no doubt that the adult conspirators imposed on the inexperience and adventurousness of the young ones. "The older party leaders courted the support of the youth by going out of their way to play up to them," says Gitlow. And, again, "They (the youth) became most malleable morally as well as politically in the caucuses of the most unscrupulous of the party leaders," and saninism, a party word for immorality, was rampant among them. The youth were taught to regard chastity as a bourgeois and therefore shameful condition.

* * *

Although Gitlow makes frequent pious and longing references to idealism, his confession seems to me to have been prompted more by a desire to discredit the party for revenge than by moral or idealistic regret.

When one comrade threatened to demand an investigation of immorality among the Communist youth the subject was dropped because, Gitlow says, the charges were true. And even that threat to demand an investigation was not prompted by any decent regard for morals. On the contrary, it was made to silence embarrassing discussion of the dissolute conduct of the elders.

This was the youth group which was given a mission to penetrate groups of American students and young workers and whose success in this corrupt work was hailed by various Communist leaders, including the same Otto Kuusinen, the Finnish traitor, whom Stalin recently appointed head of his puppet government of Finland.

This political Fagin may have been ballyhooing his own work, but he reported that the American Communist youth had transformed the American Youth Congress into a great united front of radical young people. Disguised as enemies of war and Fascism, these moral Typhoid Marys wrangled a welcome into the circles of normal American youth to spread the contamination which they had caught from association with the older agents of the Moscow government.

It may be admitted that some of the young adventurers were corrupted at the drop of a hat, but these dissipated and licentious elders acting under Moscow's orders whistled them in off the street and dropped the hat. Indeed, ex-Comrade Gitlow gives us a picture of a low political dive in which the floor was littered with hats dropped in advance. From this angle it is difficult to read the initials in the hats, but even if there is none containing the letters "B. G." that doesn't absolve ex-Comrade Benjamin Gitlow.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

By W. P. LIPSCOMB

(The author of "Clive of India" and other stage and screen-plays, collaborator on film version of "Pygmalion," writes today for vacationing Robbin Coons on his pet subject—television.)

HOLLYWOOD—We speak of the Air Force as the new strong arm in military affairs. Television is going to be the new strong arm of the entertainment business. It may be more than an arm—it may become the body of it.

Entertainment has gone as far as it can as regards stage and screen. All we can have from now on is variation of theme and treatment.

Television is suffering the same initial neglect as did radio 20 years ago. Yet television combines all the facilities of stage, screen and radio—all rolled into one. It may be only a toy as yet—so was radio when you fooled with the "catswhiskers" in the days of 1919.

* * *

Yet even a year ago in England I was putting on television plays that ran over an hour, that had 25 scenes, 30 characters, and over 300 camera shots. The production came on the television screen not as a static play but with all the variety and change of scene and with the pace of a film. But because it was played with living actors it had all the intimacy of the stage. In fact, such productions should give the audience a feeling that they are living with the characters rather than watching them.

So the new arm has arrived. And it may turn out to be the strongest arm of all. One wishes that the moguls of stage, screen and radio would recognize it as a new and powerful ally of the entertainment business.

My only criticism of the set-up is that whereas England has the doubtful benefit of television's being a government monopoly, America looks like linking it irretrievably with the sponsor system of advertising. Both are handicaps in my humble opinion.

Television should, one day, be good enough to get the public to pay direct—as it does in theaters or picture houses. You can be clocked up with the amount you use television as you are clocked up with the way you use your telephone. Your sets should be free, except for an installation charge and a minimum rate per month a very small minimum. But the productions should be so good that people will pay a cent, five cents or ten cents according to the scope and interest of the program.

* * *

There are millions of people who would pay ten cents for a two-hour program made up of, say: Charlie McCarthy, or Jack Benny, Helen Hayes in a special version of "Victoria Regina" (with Miss Hayes in person), and a portion of the most exciting local fight, or horse race or some sporting event. A two-hour show for ten cents in your own home when you can't get to the picture show?

If the reply is that people will not pay because they have been educated to get radio free, my reply is that people will pay anything to see a show they want.

It is up to the producer to put on such a good show that people will want it.

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe. It gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it truly wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
